One increasingly popular solution is the use of solar batteries. By using inverter solar batteries to store excess solar energy during the day and then use it at night or during power outages, property owners can significantly reduce their dependence on the grid and their utility bills. And the benefits don't end there.

A common misconception about solar panel systems is that they automatically continue to produce electricity if the grid goes down, so long as the sun is shining. All inverters are required to be able to be "anti-island." In other words, solar inverters are explicitly designed not to allow your solar panels to continue to push electricity into your home in the event of an outage.
